This seminar will start with two very experienced lawyers explaining how they prepare themselves and their clients in litigations to change their mindsets when they become parties participating in different stages of mediation. They will also reveal how they advise their clients to choose and agree on the mediators being proposed. A mediator will then share his experience and thoughts in healthcare mediations.

The speakers will also discuss the similarities and differences between mediation in healthcare disputes and personal injury disputes, as well as between healthcare mediations and other professional negligence ones.

About the Speakers:

Mr. John Clancey has lived in Hong Kong since 1968. He qualified as a solicitor in 1997 and as a mediator in 2001. John has been a mediator in Personal Injury and Medical Negligence cases. He also represents Plaintiffs in Medical Negligence mediations. John is a member of the board of Our Lady of Maryknoll Hospital, and a legal advisor of the Hong Kong Workers’ Health Centre.

Mrs Christine Tsang works in all areas of the healthcare sector. This gives her a truly unique understanding of healthcare from every perspective - including contentious and non-contentious issues. She gives expert advice in litigation and handles defence litigation, medical malpractice matters, inquests, disciplinary investigations and proceedings, criminal investigations and defences, and mediations. She also advises healthcare bodies and practitioners on issues that affect patient care, such as the capacity to consent to medical treatment, treatment of children, withdrawal of treatment from patients in persistent vegetative state, and data protection. Christine leads a healthcare team and has been the Honorary Legal Adviser of the Hong Kong Medical Association since 2005.

Dr. James Chiu, LLB (Hons) Lond., was a Specialist in General Surgery before he became a full-time mediator. He successfully co-mediated the first healthcare disputes in January 2006. Dr. Chiu was the first Adjunct Assistant Professor of CUHK in mediation courses, and a Workshop Instructor of the Singapore Mediation Centre. He is an Honorary Clinical Assistant Professor of the Medical Faculty of HKU. Dr. Chiu is an assessor and an approved lead trainer in general mediation courses of the HKMAAL. He is the Mediation Course Coordinator and trainer of the HK Academy of Medicine. Dr. Chiu is a Committee Member of the HK Mediation Council and the chairman of its Healthcare Sector Working Group. He has contributed 6 chapters in books on mediation published in Hong Kong and China, and is the co-author of a leading textbook, Mediation in Hong Kong: Law & Practice, in 2014.
